

Ken Felix was a founding member of the Pennsylvania Falconry and Hawk Trust (PFHT). He was also its first president and served in that capacity for the first 10 years of its existence. Ken was always working toward improving falconry for Pennsylvania falconers, and as a result of his hard work, the foundation of a strong relationship with the Pennsylvania Game Commission was established.

Ken Felix

That relationship of mutual respect and cooperation continues and is one of the main reasons Pennsylvania falconers have some of the finest falconry regulations in the country. After his tenure as PFHT president Ken continued his passion for falconry by serving as NAFA president. In addition to his duties for PFHT and NAFA Ken used his expertise as a veterinarian to help falconers. He was always ready to offer medical advise to fellow falconers when needed. He was on call 24/7 and many falconers sought Ken's advise and he provided gladly. There is no doubt Ken will be missed but the fruits of his labors will live on.
